

Course for Ph.D. students

38th cycle (Nov 2022 – Oct 2025)

Research Integrity and Open Science (1 ECTS)

Dr. Silvia Pescina
University of Parma

Course language: English

Scheduling: February, 7th and 14th, 2023 (14:30-17:30)

To attend the course please send an email to silvia.pescina@unipr.it from January, 9th to January, 31st

Course description

The course deals with Research Integrity and Open Science, two essential and interdisciplinary topics for the training of PhD candidates. In the first part, concerning the Research Integrity, the fundamentals of research ethics, as well as example of good research practices and infractions of research integrity will be provided. Once prepared the ground, being communication and dissemination two crucial aspect in the research activity, strictly related to ethics, the second part will address the Open Science. Therefore, the concepts of open source, open data, open access publications will be presented.